Severe Storm in Wisconsin and Illinois.

CHICAGO, May 18.—It is learned here that a cyclone passed north of Racine, Wis., about four o'clock this evening, and that a number of buildings were destroyed. No particulars are obtainable, as the telegraph wires went down at that hour, and all communication northward and between this city and Milwaukee has been cut off. At this hour, 10 o'clock, an unusually severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, is prevailing here. Signs are being whisked off and a general clatter is prevailing about the streets. Fears are entertained that some frail wooden buildings in the outskirts will be blown down and that all piling outside will be driven across to the east shore of Lake Michigan. The squall struck this city this afternoon about four. One hundred feet in length and fifty feet in width of the building for covering the exposition of railway appliances was blown down and four workmen injured. One had his leg broken and one was scalped. But for the fact that the police had just driven away a large number of loungers about the place casualties would have been numerous. The damage will be repaired in a couple of days.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Up to this hour, 12:30, no casualties are reported from the storm here to-night.

Severe Storm at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—At 7 o'clock this evening a heavy thunder storm, accompanied by a strong wind passed over this city. It was particularly severe in the southern portion of the city, but did no special damage except to trees. This storm was an edge of the tornado that swept through the country two miles south, veering to the northeast and destroying a large amount of property. The places where the storm struck are not connected by telegraph or telephone, and details are not known, but those in the city who saw the funnel-shaped cloud passing over the country and heard the rumbling and crashing of the storm are certain particulars will show a vast amount of damage to persons and property.

Cyclone at Racine.

RACINE, Wis., May 18.—A cyclone struck this city at 7:15 coming from the southwest, touching lightly in the southwestern portion of the town, but doing fearful havoc in the extreme northeast, where thirty-five to forty houses are swept clean. The loss of life is variously estimated. Four are known to be killed, several others maimed and a number are missing. The track of the tornado, as far as visible to the southwest, shows everything to be leveled to the ground. The darkness and confusion prevent anything like a reliable report to-night.

The Nebraska Tornado.

LINCOLN, May 18.—The storm near Valparaiso yesterday was not as bad as reported. Eight buildings were demolished, including two school houses. Mrs. Latton had an arm and leg broken. Her infant was seriously hurt on the head by a flying timber. Damages will not exceed $5000. The tornado was about 150 feet wide, and followed a ridge that extended about eight miles.

Train Collision with Fatal Results.

AUGUSTA, Me., May 18.—In the railroad collision to-day Chas. Small, engineer of the freight, was killed, as was also fireman Geo. Essebrook of the special engine. Engineer Kilgore died shortly after. The concussion was terrific, driving back the engine several yards, and tearing up the rails and sleepers. Almost immediately the boiler of the freight engine exploded, the smoke-stack flying 50 rods. The boiler head of the other engine was blown out, and the engine badly damaged. Fifteen cars were wrecked. Loss in rolling stock, $25,000.

Appropriation for a Lawsuit.

MARYSVILLE, May 18.—The supervisors of Yuba county to-day made an appropriation of $3,000 to aid in the prosecution of the debris suit of Woodruff vs. Northbloomfield, and other mining companies. The appropriation was made on the ground that county property is endangered by continual hydraulic mining in Yuba river.

Catholics Condemn the Pope's Circular.

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—Doctor Thomas O'Reilly, chairman of the executive council of the various Irish national leagues of this city, telegraphed Freeman's Journal to-night as follows: "Catholics here generally condemn the papal circular as an unjustifiable interference on the part of Rome with Irish politics."

Disabled Steamer.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The steamer State of Florida, which arrived here to-day from Glasgow, reports that on May 16, in latitude 11 min. 12 sec. longitude 64 deg. 26 min., she passed an Anchor steamer (probably the Alsatia), with an engine disabled and the piston rod loose. Assistance was not wanted.

A Wealthy Woman's Will.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The will of Mrs. Elizabeth McEvers Layard, daughter of the late James McEvers, has been filed. The estate is valued at nearly $10,000,000, and was inherited from her father. The entire property is left to her husband, Robert Bayard.

No Warrant for Sheridan.

NEW YORK, May 19.—United States Commissioner Osborne said to-day that there had not been any warrant issued from Washington for the arrest of P. J. Sheridan. If a warrant was issued it would, in all probability, be issued here.

Springer for Speaker.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—At a democratic joint caucus of the house and senate held to-night, a resolution was passed indorsing Hon. William M. Springer for speaker of the 48th congress.

Death of Lydia Pinkham.

BOSTON, May 18.—Lydia Pinkham, of proprietary medicine fame, died in Lynn to-day, aged 64. She spent $80,000 a year advertising, and secured a trade netting $300,000 per year profit.

Must Build Stations.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A bill passed the Illinois house to-day requiring railroad companies to build station houses at all points along their lines where United States mail is delivered.

Prohibitory Amendment Defeated.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—The prohibitory liquor amendment was defeated in the state senate to-day, lacking the two-thirds vote, which stood 21 yeas to 19 nays.

Northern Pacific Quiet.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Kiernan's News: Northern Pacific stock remains quiet despite the favorable reports of President Villard.

DEPOT BURNED.

TEXARKANA, Miss., May 18.—East Line railroad depot, telegraph office and a lot of cotton burned at Pittsburg to-day. No particulars.

NOT GUILTY.

The Jury in the Case of Jere Dunn, the Slayer of James Elliott, so Decide.

CHICAGO, May 18.—State Attorney Mills began the closing speech in the prosecution of Jere Dunn, for the murder of Elliott, this morning, and it is thought he will conclude by 3 P. M., when the case will be given to the jury.

Mr. Mills concluded his argument at 3 o'clock and Judge Smith proceeded to charge the jury. All the items in the instruction submitted by the attorneys for the state and for the defense were given to the jury, except some minor ones which were covered in more important instructions. The charge gave the usual definitions of murder and manslaughter and touched upon the question of reasonable doubt. The jury were instructed that if they found the meeting between Elliott and Dunn was planned by the latter to return a verdict of guilty. If they believed from the evidence that the meeting was accidental and the first hostile movement made by Elliott, they must acquit.

The instructions of the state's attorney were read first, and during the reading the prisoner showed more nervousness than at any time during the trial. As the reading of the instructions for the defense progressed however, his wonted composure returned, and at the conclusion he was as calm as before.

THE JURY RETIRES.

The jury retired at 3:45, and the Judge left the court room, with instructions to send for him as soon as the jury agreed. About 8 o'clock an agreement was announced, and the judge sent for. He came at 8:50, and the jury at once filed in, and a verdict of not guilty was announced. Demonstrations by Dunn's friends were subdued in the courtroom, but when they reached the outside with him they gave free vent to their feelings. Dunn went with a few friends to a neighboring saloon, and from there to Clayton's place in which Elliott waited for him a few days before the shooting.

The news flew rapidly in every direction, Dunn's friends running along the street and shouting the result. At Clayton's a large crowd gathered in a few minutes, and Dunn and friends slipped quietly out the backway to avoid the throng, and disappeared.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Excursion to Mt. Vernon and the Banquet in the Evening.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The society of the Army of the Potomac for their excursion to Mt. Vernon yesterday had three steamers, the George Leary, a large river steamer, the United States steamer Tallapoosa and the revenue cutter Ewing, the two latter having been placed at the disposal of the committee by the authorities of the navy and treasury departments. On the three boats were about 1000 persons, members of the society and other guests, including many ladies and residents of Washington. A collation was served on each of the boats, and the trip down the river was enlivened by army songs and impromptu speeches. After remaining two hours at Mt. Vernon the veterans and the party returned to the city, where a banquet at night at Abner's summer garden closed the run. The full marine band furnished music for the occasion, assisted by the Glee Club of 20 singers, the music in character consisting principally of SOLDIERS' SONGS OF THE REBELLION.

The rendition of familiar airs brought out much enthusiasm from the veterans, who frequently lent their voices to swell the chorus. At the principal table were seated the officers of the society and distinguished guests, among them Generals Sheridan, McClellan, Rosecrans, Slocum, Bingham and Van Vleck, Rear Admiral Rogers, General Schenck, General Walker, Senator Miller of California, and Commissioner of Pensions Dudley. General McClellan made his appearance some time after the banquet began, and as soon as he entered some one called, "Three cheers for little Mac." They were given heartily most of the guests rising to respond. The old commander of the Army of the Potomac bowed in acknowledgment of the greeting and, passing down to the rear of the guests' table shaking hands here and there with old friends, took a seat next to General Sherman. The first toast, "The President," was drunk standing. The next toast, "The Army of the United States," was responded to by General Sherman.

OREGON LANDS IN THE CALIFORNIA MARKET.

News Notes from San Francisco—Seattle Items—Proposed Packet Line to Portland—Malheur Kets—Etc.

CALIFORNIA.

The Rush for the Northwest.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—[Special.]—Advices received here to-day state that a large number of immigrants will arrive during the course of a few days, the destination of the greater number being Oregon and Washington territory. Over 150 arrived yesterday and left by the Queen of the Pacific to-day. A colony recently organized in Colorado for immigration to Puget Sound, and numbering 150, will arrive to-morrow. The latter party includes a force of miners, who go north to work in the coal districts. The rush of immigration has assumed such proportions that the sale of tickets for the steerage on the Dakota to Victoria and way ports stopped yesterday, but throughout the day a large number of immigrants besieged the office, purchasing tickets via Portland, some postponing departure until the sailing of the next Sound steamer.

Leprosy in San Francisco.

The City of New York brought forty-eight Mormon converts—English, Danes and Kanakas—to-day from New Zealand and Hawaii. At the American Exchange Hotel one of them, S Uinil, was seen. He is profusely covered on the arms and legs with dry, scaly sores, about the size of a dime, such as residents of the Sandwich Islands declare are an indication of the early stages of syphilitic leprosy.

Oregon Lands in the San Francisco Market

[Special.]—Thomas Magee, one of the most extensive dealers in real estate in this city, left for Portland to-day, in the interest of certain capitalists, and to inspect lands which have been offered in this market. Speaking in relation to probable investment of outside money in Oregon lands he stated that of late the demand had increased, and that if the land was such as was represented no difficulty would be found in effecting sales in the future. The demand for money in this market was very light last month, so that savings banks have invested in securities, but they are ready to turn their bonds into cash, whenever there is a demand for money in the local real estate market.

Continuation of Heavy Passenger Traffic.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—[Special.]—The steamer Dakota sailed this afternoon for Victoria, and way ports with a full freight and passenger list. A large number of immigrants who arrived from the east yesterday took their departure, and intend settling in the vicinity of Seattle. In consequence of the rush for tickets since the sailing of the Elder on Friday last, no tickets have been sold since last night and over 150 were unable to obtain passage. In addition to white settlers the Dakota also carried a large number of Chinamen who arrived on the Tokio and will go to work on the Canadian Pacific.

Won't Pay Poll Tax.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—[Special.]—A Chinaman named Ah You, who had made a number of ineffectual endeavors to reach Seattle for the past month, has essayed to board steamers, each time presenting his ticket, but falling a victim to the poll tax collector. He is well known to captains of northern steamers, and after failing on those going to the sound he applies to the Port and steamers, but is invariably met by a demand from the tax collector. Rather than pay the amount claimed he remains in port, and says he has already lost three good positions in Seattle.

Suit for Damages.

Thomas Flaherty, husband of the woman killed in the Nevada block elevator, is suing the Nevada bank for $100,000 damages, alleging gross negligence on the part of their employes.

San Francisco Notes.

Proceedings to disincorporate has been begun by the Pacific exchange.

The steamer Umatilla is at Oakland, loading locomotives for Oregon's new railroads.

The revenue cutter, Corwin, has been ordered north to settle the difficulties of the miners at Harrisburg and Wrangle. She will probably sail Wednesday next.

The Nevada Dock Company are about to construct a wheat warehouse at Port Costa 236 feet long, 135 wide and 32 high, costing $230,000, with a capacity for 100,000 tons.

Subscriptions so far to the new Roman Catholic cathedral are $355,000. The archbishop refuses to commence construction until the subscriptions cover the cost of the land.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company have taken practical steps to promote immigration to California. They have established a bureau of immigration at Chicago and put in charge a well informed and practical agriculturist.

Judge Sawyer has granted an order for a new trial, without costs, on a writ of error in the case of George Curtis, second mate of the Gatherer, now serving a sentence of six years at San Quentin for beating and wounding a sailor.

The California Iron and Steel Company start a new blast furnace at Hotaling, Placer county, to-morrow. The buildings will be of iron and will be of the latest improvements. The company have on hand 14,000 cords of wood, 350,000 bushels of charcoal and 8000 tons of iron ore.

San Francisco Hop, Wool and Tin Markets.

It is estimated that the stock of hops is below 3500 bales. Fifteen hundred bales are required for home consumption, leaving less than 2000 for export. Strong prices are expected when brewing is resumed east.

Wool sales have been unusually large. One eastern buyer, it is reported, has bought 1,300,000 pounds. The London sales had a discouraging effect, and it is feared that the decline in the London market will throw large quantities of foreign wool into the eastern markets, owing to the low rate of duty going into effect July 1.

The Tokio yesterday among her cargo brought 5300 cases of tea and 2500 packages of tin.

The Australian steamer, arriving later, had 3500 more packages of tin.

Rich Gold Strike in Lower California

TUCSON, May 18.—A Star Guaymas special says the gold excitement in Guaymas is increasing, and companies are continually forming. A schooner laden with mining equipments left yesterday morning for Mulege, and another leaves to-day. The citizens have unbounded confidence in the reports from Lower California, and some business men have closed their houses and departed for the gold fields. Vessels will sail between Guaymas and Mulege frequently, and as Guaymas is the most direct route for the mining districts, all available vehicles will doubtless be brought to this port for equipment.

A special from Hermosillo says the news of the rich gold discovery near Mulege reached here to-night, and the city is wild with excitement. There will be two or three companies formed here to-night. The men will go on a schooner that sails from Guaymas on Saturday.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Seattle Notes.

SEATTLE, May 18.—[Special.]—The city council to-night passed an ordinance establishing a system of fire limits for the construction of buildings, and requiring it to be put into immediate use.

Territorial, county, road and school taxes here will aggregate 16 mills on the dollar this year, against 20 mills last year. The revenue, even at the reduced rate, will be considerably greater this year.

"Political Crimes."

Ohio State Journal.

If Sheridan had been able to reach British soil after the assassination of Cavendish, he could have escaped extradition on account of his crime being a political one, if the theories of some of our brilliant international lawyers on the construction of the Ashburton treaty be correct.

A careful comparison of Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts with other Flavoring Extracts in the market will convince any person of the superiority and delicacy of flavor Dr. Price's are far superior. While the other flavorings have a disagreeable, repelling taste and odor, Dr. Price's are as natural as the fruits from which they are made.

Proceedings of the International Convention at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, May 17.—At 2:30 o'clock exercises were opened with prayer and singing.

R. Weidensall, of Chicago, then read a paper on a survey of work in the west on foot.

Ten secretaries joined in a discussion of the state commission and its work.

Rev. S. A. Taggart, state secretary of Pennsylvania, read a paper on "District work."

F. S. Cole, secretary for the Dominion of Canada, told what the general secretaries in Canada ought to do.

Wm. Windsmith, of London, England, spoke at length and was well received.

A cablegram answer to the earl of Shaftsbury's greeting, was prepared and sent by President Colby.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session a telegram of regret was received from Lieutenant Governor Crosby, of Michigan, that he could not be present.

The work of the railroad branch of the association was then taken up and eloquent speakers told of conversions made, and illustrated on the blackboard the methods resorted to.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

MILWAUKEE, May 18.—The morning session of the international convention of the Y. M. C. A. was occupied in the report of the committee to whom was referred the annual report of the international committee. They recommended a number of resolutions, all of which were finally adopted, but a heated discussion was awakened by a resolution which had reference to the acceptance of a charter from the state of New York and the make-up of the international committee.

A delegate from Indiana objected to having the international body located in New York state, claiming that the center of population was further west, and that more western men ought to be on the international committee.

A prolonged struggle followed, which was interrupted finally by President Colby who suggested that they should join in prayer and ask aid in solving the difficulty.

After half an hour of devotional exercises, the discussion was again taken up and became more heated than ever, but soon after noon the resolution was carried and the western men beaten. New York remains the headcenter of the body and the international committee is unchanged.

PRESBYTERIANS ASSEMBLED.

Earnest and Eloquent Speeches for Reconciliation and Reunion of the Two Branches of the Church.

SARATOGA, May 18.—The moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly announced the standing committees this morning and the usual reports were then submitted.

Dr. Herrick Johnson, chairman of the committee on education, read the annual report, which declared the field for necessary work is west of the Ohio. America has too many colleges poorly endowed. The report recommended a system of college supervision and the creation of a new and distinct board with headquarters at Chicago. The report was made the special order for Saturday.

An overture from the Presbytery of Macon was referred to the committee on church polity.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session the first order of business was the reception of the delegates of the southern general assembly. Dr. L. J. Evans, chairman of the committee, appeared on the platform with Rev. Drs. Wm. Brown of Fredericksburg, Thomas A. Hoyt of Nashville, and Patrick Joyce of Louisville. They were presented by the moderator and welcomed by him and introduced to the general assembly.

A message of peace and fraternal good will was read by Dr. Brown, which was repeatedly applauded. It breathed sentiments of reconciliation, and a desire for Christian fellowship and organic reunion, which he deemed practicable, for reasons of convenience, and it can be done only by an acknowledgment of error in the beginning of the disruption.

His colleague, Dr. Hoyt, spoke briefly and eloquently, conveying the opinion of that element of the Southern church that desires reconciliation, and the reunion of the two branches of the Presbyterian church.

Judge Patrick Joyce, lay delegate, briefly spoke, coinciding in the views of Dr. Hoyt, because he believed a great majority of the members of both churches were favorable to only one Presbyterian church in the United States.

The moderator made a fitting reply.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session the question of Sunday school work was discussed by Rev. Drs. Herrick, Johnson of Chicago, Howard Crosby of New York, and J. A. Wardeng of Philadelphia.

REFORMED PRESBYTERIANS.

Proceedings of the General Synod at Philadelphia Yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The general synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church of North America resumed its session to-day.

Rev. Thos. W. Wells, delegate from the general synod of the Reformed church of America, addressed the convention, and expressed the hope that the general synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church and the general synod of the Reformed church of America might be continued in the mutual benefit of both.

The moderator, Rev. James F. Norton, replied to the address, stating that a close relation had been established between the two churches, as many vital points at issue were identical to both.

Rev. Gifford Wylie of Cincinnati and Wm. Heany of New York were appointed delegates to the council of Presbyterianism at Belfast, Ireland, one year from July next, and Rev. Wm. Wylie of New York and Alexander Kerr of this city, alternates.

The report of the theological seminary fund showed: Receipts for the year, $2740 expenditures, $2730. The endowment fund, as reported, amounts to $33,034. The report was accepted and referred to the auditing committee.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session the report of the committee on the signs of the times was read by Rev. J. C. Chapman. The report said thanksgiving is due for the progress of the age, and also refers to many things which are the causes of sorrow. Reference is made to communism in France, socialism in Germany, nihilism in Russia and fenianism in Great Britain as a matter of regret. The United States is considered to be in as good political condition as any country, considering that Utah territory and the Oneida community are within its borders. The church reported in an unsettled condition, and in view of the many evils which effect the people and nations, the report recommends Thursday of each week as a day of prayer.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

THE TROUBLE ENDED.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The trouble between the east bound trunk lines and the board of trade, on account of which the former withdrew their agents from the floor of the exchange and from solicitation of business from grain and provision shippers, is finally settled and the agents again are on the board. The particulars of the terms of the compromise are not known.

VANDERBILT BUYS A CONTROLLING INTEREST.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 18.—It was made known to-day that the Pennsylvania society has sold to Commodore Vanderbilt 12,000 shares of stock in the Pittsburg and Lake Erie road. The price paid is $175 per share, the total amount being $2,100,000. This gives Vanderbilt a large controlling interest in the road.

Twenty Persons Killed at Racine.

RACINE, Wis., May 18.—The first cyclone in the history of this section struck Racine at 7 o'clock to-night, passing through the extreme northwestern portion of the city, demolishing 150 houses and barns, and causing a loss of life of about 20, besides hurting more or less seriously 100 or more. The day was ushered in bright and cool, with a fresh wind blowing.

Tornado at Valparaiso, Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 18.—A cyclone struck Valparaiso, 12 miles north of here last evening. Five buildings were demolished, and three persons injured. Their names and the extent of their injuries are not known, as the wires are down and full particulars will not be obtainable before this afternoon.

Texas Wool Market.

SAN ANTONIO, May 18.—The wool market here to-day was somewhat animated by the sale of 85,000 pounds by one firm, at from one half to three cents concession on previous prices, which have been ruling considerably higher than eastern figures. Receipts are unusually large, and there was a brisk demand for fine fleeces.

CURLEY HANGED.

The Doomed Man Meets his Fate Unflinchingly, "Carrying his Secrets to the Grave."

DUBLIN, May 18.—Daniel Curley, the second man convicted of the murder of Cavendish and Burke, was hanged at Kilmainham jail this morning. The jail was guarded by a force of military, similar to the occasion of the hanging of Brady, Monday last.

After the priests prayed privately with the condemned man in his cell, mass was performed in the prison chapel, in the presence of the governor and warden, when Curley received the sacrament. Meanwhile a group of women, which had gathered outside of the prison, were on their knees saying the litany for the dying man. When the black flag, announcing the execution had taken place, was hoisted over the prison, every man in the crowd outside, which numbered barely 1000, uncovered his head and murmured sympathy with Curley. A rush was then made by the crowd for a garden near by, where Curley's relatives had assembled, and where his father was kneeling and praying for the repose of the soul of his son. The people soon dispersed quietly.

Curley walked to the scaffold with little assistance. He seemed to be resigned to his fate, but was hardly firm. He declined to make any statement touching his connection with the crime for which he was executed. Death was instantaneous.

In a letter which Curley wrote to his wife he said: "I will take my secrets to the grave with me and leave those who have freedom to enjoy it. I will die in peace, forgiving my enemies."

PLOT TO KILL THE CZAR.

LONDON, May 18.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the police of this city have been informed of the existence of a plot to frighten the horse of the czar, at some favorable opportunity during the procession at Moscow, and in the confusion which would no doubt follow kill the emperor.

LONDON, May 18.—It is stated that an informer who was brought from America because of knowledge which he possesses regarding persons implicated in the dynamite conspiracy has been in Scotland yard for the past two days.

LONDON WOOL MARKET.

LONDON, May 18.—Eleven thousand three hundred bales of Port Phillip and Sydney wools were sold to-day. A moderate spirit was shown.

FRANCE.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

PARIS, May 18.—In the chamber of deputies Waldeck, minister of the interior, replying to a question regarding the circular sent to prefects relative to a panic among the depositors of savings banks, said the circular simply was intended to reassure persons interested in savings banks.

Tirard, minister of finance, explained that the state would actually profit by the diminution of depositors in bonds, for it could obtain money at 2 per cent. interest, while it paid depositors 4 per cent. Those who desired to withdraw money could obtain it without difficulty.

IRELAND.

THE POPE'S CIRCULAR CRITICISED.

DUBLIN, May 18.—Michael Davitt, in a letter forwarding subscription to the fund being raised for Parnell, says: "The papal circular to the clergy is pernicious, unjust, and must evoke a strongly painful resentment on the part of the people."

Healy, member of parliament for Wexford, in sending a subscription to the fund, said Ireland will neither take religion from Errington nor advice from Rome.

RUSSIA.

THE CZAR BEGINS TO TREMBLE.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 18.—An officer of an Erivan regiment, who recently was arrested on suspicion of being engaged in a revolutionary movement, was subjected to a severe examination, during which he mentioned the names of several officers and guards who, he declared, belonged to a revolutionary club. He stated, however, that the club pursued special objects and had no connection with terrorists. The czar on learning of this confession decided to postpone the date of his coronation, but was dissuaded from so doing. A number of officers and guards have been arrested in consequence of the prisoner's disclosures.

GERMANY.

MACKAY WILL ATTEND THE CORONATION.

BERLIN, May 18.—Mackay of Nevada started for Moscow to attend the coronation of the czar, as a member of the American mission. Mrs. Mackay who accompanies her husband, has fifteen costly dresses.

MINERS' CONVENTION.

After the Adoption of a Number of Resolutions the Association Adjourns.

PITTSBURG, May 18.—A meeting of the coal miners and operators' tribunal, to settle existing differences, was to have met to-day, but owing to the absence of one of the operators' committee the meeting was postponed till to-morrow. The iron situation is unchanged. Interest is increasing, however, as the day approaches for the presentation to the manufacturers for their signatures. President Jarrett, of the amalgamated association, said last night that they would present last year's scale next week, and if it was not signed by June 1st a strike certainly would take place, as the association would make no concessions.

When the convention was called to order in the afternoon the committee on ways and means presented the following resolutions, which were adopted after some little discussion:

Resolved, That the executive board be conferred with the power by the miners of different sections to appoint organizers to visit localities where no organization exists; that the board have power to draw on the treasurer for money necessary to defray their expense of attending the session, and also the expenses of the organizers; that the National Labor Tribune be recognized as the official organ; that the same prepare an official statement of the proceedings for publication in the Tribune, and that the editor send a copy to

EVERY DELEGATE PRESENT;

That the action taken by miners with regard to ratification or rejection of the proceedings be returned through the general officers of the state associations to the executive board; that the executive board be requested at its earliest convenience to urge states and districts not organized to do so at once; that this convention favor the establishment of schools of mineralogy in the various mining districts, in connection with the present school system; that every encouragement be given to the passage of mining laws for the better security of the health and safety of workmen, that the adoption of the system of check-weighmen be encouraged throughout the states where coal is weighed, and that thanks be tendered to Pittsburg miners for the hospitalities extended.

The convention having finished business, then adjourned, subject to call of the executive board.

The executive board of the inter-state association met this evening and organized temporarily, by the election of Alex. McDonald of Illinois, president, and P. A. Crow of Maryland, secretary.

But Little Hope for Settlement.

PITTSBURG, May 18.—The outlook at present is not favorable for a settlement of the troubles existing between the iron manufacturers and the workmen, and a general shut down of mills on June 1 at this time appears inevitable. It is thought that if the mills close it will have the effect of settling the wage dispute between the coal miners and operators, as the coal trade will suffer more than any other industry, and the miners be compelled to accept the three cent rate.

The West against the East.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Some of the leading members of the amalgamated association of iron and steel workers of this city say the workmen here will not have any instructions from the association to stop work from June 1 to August 1, as proposed at a joint meeting of mill owners and men at Pittsburg. That the conditions here are different; that warm weather does not begin so early; that there is not an over supply here as in the east, and that if the association proposes to run things in the interest of the east alone it will result in division and formation of an association for the west which will consider the interests of western workmen.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Star Route Trial.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Ingersoll began his address to the jury in the star route trial to-day. He said the government would have the jury believe that Dorsey told Moore that he (Dorsey) was a recal. He told him that because he was a senator and wanted it kept a profound secret. That was what the government called probable. The jury would not believe it unless they became insane, and they might, if the trial continued much longer. After the admissions of Rise, the only corner-stone—the only pebble—for the foundation of the government's case, was the agreement to make out the necessary papers to carry out the division. What were those papers? Simply documents to enable the parties to carry on the business of routes falling to their share. The court itself had said these same orders would have been made if the transaction was perfectly honest. Remember his text: "Circumstantial evidence must point to the guilt of the defendants. That settled the papers, there was no question about that." Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—It is stated at the white house to-day that the president will appoint a commissioner of internal revenue to-morrow.

MEXICO.

New Gold Fields.

GUAYMAS, MEX., May 18.—The schooner Kambler left here at 3 o'clock to-day for Mulege with all the traps and passengers she can carry, bound for the new gold fields. A great many miners are in town waiting a chance to sail for the same place. A company has been organized in Guaymas under the name of the Sonora Mining Company. Two of the stockholders left to-day by the Rambler. The gold already exhibited assays 23 carats and, instead of 17½ as previously reported.

A New Loan Effected.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 18.—Private telegrams from London announce that new 6 per cent. bonds have been issued for half of the old 3 per cent. debt, the bondholders to make a new loan of $40,000,000 at 5 per cent, guaranteed by a percentage of the customs duties.

STEAMER BURNED.

The Granite State Totally Destroyed and Five Lives Lost.

HARTFORD, May 18.—It is reported here that the steamer Granite State, which left here last night for New York, burned at Goodspeed landing.

Later.—The steamer was destroyed this morning while approaching the dock at Goodspeed landing, four miles below the city. The flames spread so rapidly that nothing was saved. Five lives are known to be lost, four by burning and one by drowning. The latter person was Mrs. Dr. C. L. Main of New Haven, who with her husband jumped into the river. The husband reached the dock. An effort was made to reach the dock with the steamer, but the fire spread with such rapidity that it was found impracticable. Her stern was swung in however and most of the crew and passengers

JUMPED FROM THE BURNING STEAMER

To the wharf, while some jumped into the river and swam ashore. It is not known how the fire originated. The bodies of the persons burned cannot be identified. One body, however, has been already identified as that of the second cook, named Jackson. Two of the bodies are supposed to be emigrant passengers. Nine horses were also burned. The cargo was mostly freight billed to this city, which is a total loss. The steamer's hull has floated down the river about half a mile below the landing. Nothing is visible above the water but her galley frame and walking beam. The steamer was valued at $50,000.

The body of Mrs. C. L. Main of New Haven was secured. She was on her bridal trip, and sprang overboard with her husband. They sank three times, when Main became entangled in the paddle wheel and was saved. It is now thought that Mrs. Main and the second cook, named Jackson (colored man) were the only persons drowned. Two deck passengers are unaccounted for, however.

The insurance, $40,000, is distributed against among a number of companies. The cargo was valued at from $30,000 to $50,000, belonging mostly to Hartford merchants. It was shipped at senders' or consignees' risk.

THE CLERK'S STORY.

Tilloway, clerk of the boat, says that when the whistle for landing at Goodspeed landing was blown he proposed to send the shipping papers ashore that belonged here. No passengers were to be landed and but little freight. No fire was discovered till the boat was within a few feet of the dock. Tilloway hastened to wake the passengers. Meantime the agent on shore had the head and midship lines fastened, but the boat was a few feet away from the wharf, and up till this time had those on the vessel discovered the smoke. In a very few moments the flames burst out, and soon after, when most of the passengers had gathered on deck, the boat began to swing away from the dock, and power to handle her from the pilot house and engine room was lost, for the fire had driven the engineer from his post, where he remained till the bell wires no longer worked, and the vessel was at the mercy of the tide. The hawser was seized by twenty men, who put their whole strength to the task of pulling the boat to the dock, and after a steady pull, which, at first seemed of no avail, the boat began to move inward, and planks were got off and the passengers went ashore in reasonably good order.

BUT LITTLE EXCITEMENT.

There had been, of course, much fear and excitement during the struggle to reach the dock, but no loud demonstration. There were occasional exceptions among a few emigrants, who became much excited. In pulling the hawser to reach the dock the forward hawser broke, having been weakened by the flame. There were some passengers who had become confused, and did not understand Tilloway's directions, and remained in the forward end. These, in some cases, dropped into the water. Others took hold of the hawser before it gave way, and went hand over hand ashore. Two small boats were brought up, and they were devoted to persons struggling in the water. The ferry boat was towed up, and upon this all in the water were taken. No one of the escaping crowd is known to have been lost.

NINE HORSES LOST.

Nine horses were burned belonging to J. M. Kingsley of Deep river. Another horse got overboard and swam ashore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt and their two sons were returning from Brooklyn, where they had attended the wedding of their daughter, a deaf mute, who was married to a deaf mute. The bride asked her parents to take the wedding presents to her former home for safe keeping. All were lost. Mrs. G. A. Hunt and daughter of New York were rescued with difficulty. Miss Hunt was taken into two different boats, both capsizing.

THE WIDOWER'S ACCOUNT.

Clifford D. Main, husband of the bride lost, says: "The first I knew the boat was on fire was by seeing smoke coming out of my stateroom. I had been aroused by cries outside, but did not know what the commotion meant. We got up hurriedly and only partially dressed and went into the hall, which was fast filling with smoke, and passed through to the forward deck. There we stood for a moment to decide what was best to do. I could not swim, but saw a hawser fastened to the deck and thought I could get hold of that and get both of us ashore. There were other people in the water at the time. I grasped my wife firmly around the waist and told her to be of good courage and we would be saved. Then I lowered myself to the guard and we stood up together for the plunge and went into the water. We sank right away, but came to the surface, and I was about to catch hold of the hawser when it broke and it seemed as if there was no hope, for down again we went, clinging fast to each other, and the second time rose to the surface. I was strangled and fast losing my strength and could see no means of escape. The third time we went down I scarcely knew what happened. My wife had separated from me, and I found myself clutching the wheel, and there remained drifting with the steamer until a boat came on and picked me off."

T. A. Graham, engineer, who passes the winter in Cuba, and whose family lives here, is supposed to be drowned.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

WIFE MURDERER HANGED.

LEXINGTON, Ga., May 18.—J. C. Jones, wife murderer, was hanged to-day in the presence of an immense crowd of people, many coming a distance of sixty miles. Jones attempted suicide yesterday by opening the veins of his arm, and was only discovered when he had lost about a gallon of blood. This morning, being stronger, the governor telegraphed the sheriff to proceed with the execution. Jones asserted that the only reason why he killed his wife was that he loved her. Feeling against him was very bitter and it was thought he would be lynched if not executed by law.

The gallows was erected about a mile from the court house, in a field. Jones was taken from the jail at 1 o'clock and escorted by a guard to the gallows. The prisoner went to the scaffold with great coolness, talking with reporters all the way from the jail. At the scaffold he explained that he thought it no crime to take his own life in order to prevent death on the scaffold. After prayer by Rev. Gibson the black cap was drawn over his face and the drop fell at half-past 2 o'clock. He died after a few struggles, his neck being broken.

SHOOTING AFFAIR IN MISSISSIPPI.

ENTERPRISE, Miss., May 16.—Dr. J. M. Byrd shot and killed Captain W. M. Brame, ex-sheriff of Jasper county, to-day, in the street at Paulding. They began firing almost simultaneously, about four yards apart and advanced close enough for Brame to strike Byrd with a stick. Both of the men exhausted their pistols. Brame died almost instantly from a shot in the right side. Byrd was uninjured, except by the blow from the stick. A feud had existed some time. While the difficulty was not unexpected it is greatly deplored, on account of the prominence of the parties.

CONDUCTOR SHOT.

A GOOD COMPARISON.

The Rev. William Boulait, a well-known Methodist clergyman, residing at Nepos, draws the following amusing, but apt comparison between Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a ferret.

"A ferret when placed at the entrance of a rat hole, enters the aperture, travels along the passage, seizes upon the rat, exterminates its existence and draws the miserable defunct carcass to the light. And in like manner have I found Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge to operate upon worms, those dreadful and dangerous tormentors of children. This remedy, like the ferret, enters the aperture of the mouth, travels down the gullet, hunts round the stomach and lays hold of the worms, shakes the life out of the reptiles, sweeps clean their den, and carries their carcasses clear out of the system. This, at least, has been the effect of the Vermifuge upon my children."

SATURDAY MORNING MAY 19 1883

THE INEVITABLE CONSEQUENCE

It is a favorite idea with many of the members who represent the agricultural counties in the legislature that [illegible] done to worry the capitalist at [illegible] and to make things easy for the poor mortgaged borrower. With this view and with the further object of making the money lender contribute more largely to the revenues, the mortgage tax law, now on the statute book of our state, was enacted. Though the result is not what the authors of the law expected or desired, it is just what others foresaw. It is next to impossible now to raise money on real estate security, and it can only be obtained through a long, circuitous and costly process the end of which is a stipulation that the borrower shall see that the taxes are paid. Many capitalists do not like to require this, and so do not lend in this state on mortgage at all. Though money is abundant this law has made it excessively "tight," and the burden comes with all its weight on the class whom the law was designed to protect. This is the invariable result of all legislation of the kind. The only way to make money easy and cheap is to let it entirely alone. Strange that this which is the very A B C of money should be almost the last thing learned by the average citizen in the course of his financial transactions. There is no reason except in our laws why money in abundance should not be obtainable here, on good security, at 6 or at most 7 per cent. But through the measures adopted to reduce the profits of the money lenders which are utterly futile and will always fail the cost of getting money on mortgage is now—including interest and taxes—fully 12 per cent. This is "helping the poor man" with a vengeance. Possibly the time will come when it will be known, even in an [illegible] that every effort to tax [illegible] only oppresses the borrower and debtor [illegible] of the present law is simply its [illegible] only possible consequence [illegible] at again as "a tool [illegible]" and "an advocate of the [illegible] once more plainly tells [illegible] so unfortunate as to be poor and [illegible] of this kind only add to their [illegible]

[illegible] remedies, the state [illegible] from suit which be[illegible] sovereignty."

[illegible], but it shows [illegible] in our mixed polity [illegible] sovereignty the [illegible] by one "sovereign" [illegible] from the other. The [illegible] is that of Virginia. [illegible] to pay 60 per cent [illegible] the remainder. An act [illegible] tax for payment [illegible] of the new bonds. [illegible] possible to the [illegible] with them an amend[illegible] constitution of the [illegible] terms any at[illegible] further, or any eva[illegible] payment of the an[illegible] to levy the necessary [illegible] this act about $12,000,000 [illegible] bonds were taken, [illegible] thought that the debt [illegible] the state soon defaulted [illegible] and in 1879 adopted a [illegible] in which the interest upon [illegible] for 1880, and reduced from [illegible] for five years, 3 per cent [illegible] and 4 per cent thereafter. [illegible] in default for several years on [illegible] first repudiated 40 per cent of [illegible] but gave a most solemn pledge [illegible] the remainder. Finding, however, [illegible] of the debt had been disposed of [illegible] method, the sponge was again ap[illegible] the interest was rubbed out on a [illegible] of that remainder, and the supreme court of the United States has informed [illegible] that it has no constitutional power [illegible] a remedy. This, perhaps, is a [illegible] decision; nevertheless there ought to [illegible] somewhere to place a check upon these [illegible] breaches of honesty, which are none the less objectionable because perpetrated under the cover of state sovereignty.

There are signs that point to the conclusion that the war at last is over. The fifth Virginia regiment of the confederate army and the seventy-eighth regiment of New York volunteers have arranged to hold a joint reunion at Niagara falls on the 23d May. The two regiments measured each other's strength during the war on several fields. The southerners will be the guests of the northern men during the reunion. An ex-confederate has also made a proposition that all the surviving members of both armies meet in grand reunion some time this year at some place in the south. The southern soldiers who engaged in the war with all the energy of hand-to-hand encounter are much more ready to forget old animosities than are some of the southern statesmen who stood safely behind the ranks and urged on the others.

An agnostic is defined by Professor George F. Wright, of Oberlin, as "one who confesses such a degree of ignorance concerning any proposition that he is unable to form an opinion as to its truth or falsity." His conclusion is that agnosticism is a help or a hindrance to christianity according to the point to which it is directed. If it relates to the fundamental ideas of religion, it paralyzes all efforts to learn and accept the truth; but if it only covers minor objections, secondary doctrines and apparent discrepancies, it clears the field for action.

It is an impressive spectacle to see Bessor and Beebe, supported by the organ of hoodlumism and free whisky, taking counsel with Carrie Bradley to secure honesty and efficiency in public office and enforcement of official morality. The city now surely will be "redeemed into everlasting perdition," as a Dogberry would [illegible]

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY AS AN INDEX

The sales of farming machinery in this city or through the agency [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Oregon and Washington [illegible] [illegible] has disclosed the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] In general [illegible] always [illegible] in steady [illegible] advance [illegible] [illegible] up [illegible] Northern [illegible] which only a few years ago [illegible] that will make Spokane county [illegible] a large buyer of machinery and the [illegible] of the [illegible] there this fall will surprise many who think them [illegible] the development of the [illegible]. It seems [illegible] able that a region [illegible] has [illegible] little space of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The product of this [illegible] will eventually find their way to the [illegible] market of Portland. But this [illegible] perhaps for several seasons to come they will find a ready market at the railroad camps near at the high prices which always result from unusual and irregular demands.

Better facilities of transportation have increased the business somewhat in the country immediately about Lewiston in Northern Idaho and in the Camas, Potlatch and other productive valleys further east. As yet however it is small and unimportant and cuts but a small figure in the general volume of the machinery trade. The business in Umatilla, Baker, Union and Grant counties has not more than held its own, but from Wasco, which since the building of the railroad has to a great extent discarded stock raising for farming, a considerable advance is felt. The counties of Klickitat and Yakima in Central Washington have kept pace with Wasco as facilities for shipment and sale have increased. The Puget sound trade is very naturally small, the agricultural country, strictly speaking, being limited. The bulk of the business is in the islands, in Whatcom county, in the Black river and the Chehalis river valleys and in Lewis county along the line of the Northern Pacific road. The counties of Clarke and Cowlitz buy machinery in a small way.

At Walla Walla, which has always been a distributing point for machinery, several Portland houses have agencies which report an unusually good trade. The splendid crop prospects of the Walla Walla valley have prompted special purchases in the long-settled districts, and the demand has also been great as a consequence of increased acreage. Dayton, Farmington, Colfax, Moscow and Waitsburg, which sit in new and rich sections, have become local centers of importance, and there, too, agencies have been established. Sales at these points have doubled within a year.

The Willamette valley is now, as has always been the best field for the sale of machinery. Notwithstanding the set back of the winter's cold, the business here has increased very considerably. The growth here is slow and healthy. It is noticeable that the wear and waste of machinery is less in the valley than in the newer regions east of the Cascades, where farmers are not so well provided with barns and store-houses. Inquiry as to the character of the northwest as a business field elicited from a well known dealer here the following reply: "Collections in this country are better than in any other section of which I have knowledge. Payments are unusually prompt. The unfailing crops of this country secure unfailing rewards to the farmer, and so there has never been here, as in many other localities, a general failure on the part of the agricultural community. I fear, however, that with large immigration to eastern Washington the character of that field for prompt and certain payment will decline. Immigrants are universally 'slow pay.'"

THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.

The great movements which in Portland manifest themselves in unprecedented business activity, a rush of building and crowded streets, extend throughout the country and are felt particularly in the Willamette valley. One had but to pass through on the daily train to gain an idea of the new activity which is abroad in the country. Indications of it appear everywhere. The little wayside stations, almost without exception, have within the past few months taken on a brighter look. New houses are going up in every town and village, and hotels are filled with people looking about for locations of purchase or settlement. The trains are crowded to their utmost capacity almost every day and extra cars are frequently taken on to accommodate the increasing travel. The population of every county in the valley has increased from five to fifteen hundred within the past six months and in each many new enterprises have been or are about to be set in motion. Benton county is perhaps gaining more than its neighbors of the valley. The prospect of a railroad from Yaquina bay to the river is attracting people to the coast district, so long isolated. The peculiar fitness of that region for dairying has been noticed and we are informed by Mr. Wallis Nash who is now in this city, that a number of trained dairymen from Iowa and Minnesota are about to introduce there the latest scientific dairying methods. Mr. Nash himself has the necessary machinery for dairying on a large scale now on the way here, and he will set it in motion the present season. Crop prospects were never better in the Willamette valley than at this time. Most of the fields frozen out last winter have been resown, but some will be allowed a season's rest and so the acreage is perhaps less than usual owing to the winter's misfortune. Fields are in splendid condition, however, and the surplus for export will certainly not fall short of 325,000 tons and it may go as high as 300,000 tons.

A telegraphic dispatch two days ago stated that Mr. Randall, the candidate of the democratic protectionists, was absolutely sure of the speakership of the house. It is asserted also that Mr. Randall's ambition is not bounded by that place, but that he is looking for a more august position. He is the Philadelphia Record, a democratic journal of Mr. Randall's city, saying that this politician is pushing for the presidency with all his might, and asserting that he has Samuel Jones Tilden for an open and avowed backer. It is said that Mr. Randall is a constant visitor at Gramercy park [illegible] It is further stated that [illegible] the speakership [illegible] If [illegible] think that he can [illegible] his time [illegible] to the democratic national convention than in taking [illegible] to speakership at this time. It is Mr. Tilden's idea that the only way to win the support or tolerance even of the [illegible] of the country in favor of democratic supremacy is to straddle the tariff question with all the acrobatic ability [illegible] Mr. Randall is the only man who can hold the support of capital and at the same time whose general [illegible] command the unswerving allegiance of the democratic voting masses. Mr. Tilden [illegible] nor will he be, under any circumstances a candidate, but he has a little score to settle with John Kelly and others for their action in 1880 and he means this time to dictate a nomination and he intends it to be Randall.

A Californian who was induced to institute a libel suit and was afterwards obliged to pay heavy costs, has sued his lawyer for $400, alleging that he gave him "bad advice." It is quite probable that the charge can be sustained. Much of the business done by shysters is with the knowledge that it will come to naught for their clients. They ought to [illegible] [illegible] means of [illegible] ours.

WILL IT BE A BENEFIT?—The mortgage tax law which has lately been sustained by the supreme court is a matter of great interest to a large number of [illegible] and the effect it will have in the future [illegible] being extensively discussed. Many of these are no doubt paid, but owing to [illegible] releases the fact has not been recorded. On the face of it the law appears as if it would relieve the poorer class of some of their burdens of taxes, but whether it will have this result in reality is very doubtful.

PLEADING GUILTY.—Yesterday in the state circuit court Frank Faulkoner withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the indictment for embezzlement. Judge Stearns sentenced him at once to confinement in the penitentiary for one year. Faulkoner's crime consisted in stealing a lot of [illegible] from the store of Mellis Bros. & Co., [illegible] amounting to about $75. Suspicion fell upon him and a trap was set by which he was captured. Sheriff Sears will take him up to the penitentiary to-day together with Napoleon Bonaparte Rheinhardt, the highwayman, sentenced to five years. "Brock" Wheeler, Rheinhardt's partner, who goes for the same term of years, will be taken up Monday.

BASE BALL TO-DAY.—A base ball match will be played on the grounds at the Bishop Scott grammar school this afternoon at 3 o'clock, between the Portland and Columbia nines. The players are in good condition and an exciting game is anticipated. Following is a list of the players: Portland—Garvin, second base; Lyons, first base; Glendenning, pitcher; Smith, left field; Geis, catcher; Coulter, center field; Waddell, right field; Marshall, short stop; Foley, third base. Columbia—Whitney, first base; Olcott, short stop; Wilcox, left field; Giltner, pitcher; Maxwell, second base; Burling, third base; Coffee, right field; Moses, catcher; Malarkey, center field.

NEW MASONIC CEMETERY.—The trustees of the Masonic Cemetery Association in view of the fact that their burial plot at Lone Fir is nearly filled and interments must of necessity soon cease, they are negotiating for the purchase of a tract of forty-one acres on the John Tice claim, south of the city. The tract, which is just opposite the Jewish cemetery and adjoining the River View cemetery, is a beautiful location. The timber is cleared off and if the purchase is concluded, as it probably will be to-day, the stumps will be at once removed and the services of a landscape gardener employed to lay out and beautify the place.

HEAVY HULL.—Preparations are in progress on the river bank, just below the Albina ferry landing, for an immense hull of some sort. There are a number of huge timbers and knees, and it looks as if work on ways had been commenced. No one was present who could give information to our reporter except a laborer, who said he heard it was to be a dredge. Timbers of that size are too heavy for a steamboat, and as the only dredge in contemplation now is the one for pumping sand from the bottom of the river into Couch lake, it seems reasonable to believe that such is the object of this work.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.—The commencement exercises at Pacific university, Forest Grove, will begin on Sunday, June 3, on which day Rev. T. L. Eliot will preach the Baccalaureate sermon at 11 A. M. At 3 P. M., on Monday, Rev. G. W. Izer will deliver an address before the Gamma Sigma society. On the 5th will take place the celebration of the Alumni of the university. On Wednesday, the 6th, the commencement exercises will be held at 11 A. M.; a business meeting of the Alumni at 2 P. M.; Alumni dinner at 2:30, and at 8 P. M. the re-union of Alumni students and their friends.

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday Louis Davis, aged 15 years, son of Jackson Davis of Fourth Plain, was fatally injured, says the Vancouver Independent, just how is not known, and died within a few minutes after being found. He started with a team to get his mother and sister at the Jacob Proebstel farm about 5 o'clock P. M., and the team was heard running past the door yard. On going out the people found the boy in a fence corner, with his skull fractured. He only spoke once afterward. It is supposed the team starting to run threw him against a rail.

VIEWS OF THE CORNER STONE LAYING.—Two views of the scene at the laying of the corner stone of the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home, photographed by I. G. Davidson, have been laid on our table. They are taken from different standpoints, and contain portraits of many of the grand lodge officials and other members of the order, and will furnish a pleasing memento of the occasion to all concerned. A large number of copies will be printed, which will be sold at 50 cents each. Mr. Davidson proposing to donate one-fourth the proceeds to the Orphans' Home fund.

CROP PROSPECTS.—F. Gattleman, who has just returned from a trip through Linn and Lane counties, says that in many of the old hop yards in that section the vines have not come up, and it is probable the roots were killed by the cold weather of last winter. The vines where they are growing do not have so thrifty an appearance as usual. The wheat in many places is not looking well, owing to the cold weather and backward season. The outlook for farmers in these counties, he thinks, is not up to that of average years.

CONTINUED.—The case of Moses Fried, accused of being implicated with Charles Schmidt in the slaughter of a sick cow and the sale of the flesh to a butcher, came up in the police court yesterday and was continued till Monday. Fried contradicts Schmidt's assertion that he (Fried) purchased the diseased animal, and swears that he was merely hired to butcher and sell the animal, and had nothing further to do with the matter. The affair should be thoroughly investigated, and the guilty party severely punished.

DEBATING SOCIETY.—At the last regular fortnightly meeting of the high school debating society Charles Strauss and Miss Ada Bates were elected members. The treasurer, David L. Williams, resigned and Commodore Jenne was elected to fill the vacancy. The debate on the subject of "Woman's Suffrage" will take place Wednesday, May 30.

THE KOOTENAI COMPANY.—It is reported that Capts. John C. and George J. Ainsworth will leave San Francisco about the first of next month for Victoria, where they will organize the company for carrying out the plans for establishing navigation with Kootenai river. Active work will probably begin this summer.

RISING VERY SLOWLY.—At Celilo yesterday the Columbia river was at a stand, and at Bonneville it rose two inches. At Oregon City, above the falls, the Willamette fell one inch. Here the river rose two inches, and at midnight marked sixteen feet above low water mark.

IN FISHING SERVICE.—To-morrow the O. R. & N. Co's steamer Alice, in command of Capt. Archie Pease, will begin service as tender between fishing boats and canneries, and transporting salmon in cases to the Astoria dock.

RAPID TRANSIT.—A movement is on foot to increase the facilities for travel on the river route between Portland and St. Johns. It is intended to be permanent and will be increased as occasion requires.

A plat of Sterick's addition to Portland, embracing fifteen irregular lots, about the corner of Reed and Twenty-third streets, was filed in the office of the county clerk yesterday.

Ralph, the religious fanatic who, although harmless, has succeeded in frightening many people upon the streets by his queer actions, was arrested yesterday by the police and sent away to some friends living in the White Salmon country.

A Yamhill youth, whose vision was sadly dimmed by his many and frequent libations, tried hard to provoke a wooden Indian in front of a cigar store to fight him yesterday. He might have succeeded had not a policeman interfered and taken him to the city jail.

Military and Personal.

Vancouver Independent.

Ordnance Sergeant George Colkell of Fort Townsend has been adjudged insane and sent to San Francisco.

Gen. H. A. Morrow will speak at Tacoma on Memorial day, where Seattle and Olympia will join in the observance of the day.

Lieut. J. F. R. Landis, First Cavalry, acting aide-de-camp, relieves Lieut. Fred G. Seawalls as chief signal officer of the department.

Capt. Cullen Bryant, ordnance corps, left headquarters yesterday en route to Dayton and Walla Walla. He will probably return this week.

Capt. Robt. Pollock, Twenty first Infantry, will be placed on the retired list on September 17, under action of the general law governing retirements.

Lieut. F. H. E. Ebstein, Twenty-first Infantry, and wife returned from Europe in April, and are expected here very soon, where they will receive a hearty welcome after two years' absence.

Lt. T. H. Russell, First artillery, reported at headquarters on the 12th inst., having arrived with recruits for the First cavalry. He left on the steamer of the 14th, for his station at Fort Winfield Scott.

Lieut. G. W. Goethals, engineer corps, returned from Port Townsend and Tatoosh Island on Tuesday, where he had been on public business connected with the Cape Flattery military telegraph line.

The Arizona Miner says: "The high average in marksmanship attained by the rifle detachment now at Whipple barracks under instructions in target firing, gives general satisfaction in military circles, and reflects great credit upon Lieut. L. P. Brant, First Infantry, its commander and instructor." Lieut. Brant's home, before going into the army was at Vancouver.

The board for the purchase of horses for Light Battery E, First artillery, succeeded in obtaining four near Corvallis. They are now at the Dalles from which point four more will have been received. The division chief Q. M. telegraphs that the price that may be paid for these horses has been increased to $200, also that good horses can be had at that price in California. The price that may be paid for best cavalry horses has been increased to $125. It is expected these changes will facilitate completion of the labors of the purchasing board.

A WOMAN'S APPEAL.

A christian woman of this city, who has long been identified with temperance and other good works makes the following appeal to the mothers of Portland:

Do we, mothers in the city of Portland, fully realize that we have the power in our own hands to banish alcohol from our homes? Yes, we have the power to do so, for this is one of our God-given rights.

Each one of us can become a queen in our own home in regard to this matter, because here we hold our hand upon the helm of affairs; and woe be unto us if we give an uncertain sound, which shall cause the precious ones that have been intrusted to our care to be shipwrecked in the place which God intended to be to them a haven of rest and a refuge from all the snares of the devil.

But you say that your husband requires that liquor be kept in the house, and that it be set before your guests. I cannot believe that our husbands would be so unreasonable in their requests if you would take pains to convince them of the great wrong in so doing.

Do we not accuse these husbands of ours with a great deal more than they are guilty of? There is nothing that men admire more in a woman than decision of character. Men have not lost all the impress of the divine image, nor shall they ever forget that they have been created in the likeness of God, and that they have in their souls the grand possibilities of eternal life. I will say again that we Christian mothers can lead our husbands and sons into the paths of virtue and temperance by our perfect example.

And whatsoever our divine Master saith unto us, that let us do. COM.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Tilmon Ford of Salem, is in the city.

Dr. R. G. Rex leaves this morning via the Northern Pacific for a two months' visit east.

Mrs. Lobe of San Francisco, accompanied by her daughter, is visiting her son, A. Lobe, of this city.

W. P. Hutton, a prominent stock man of Heppner, Or., and bride, nee Miss Ida Hallock, are at the Esmond.

Edward Hughes, representing Lowell and Co. of Mansfield, Ohio, goes this morning to Walla Walla, where he will settle.

The condition of Thomas Healy, who has been ill of typhoid fever for the past two weeks, was much worse yesterday, and it was feared that it was critical.

W. Savage of Polk county is in the city on his way home from Eastern Oregon, where he has been for several weeks looking after his extensive stock interests.

Mrs. W. H. Odell, wife of the editor of the Salem Statesman, is lying very ill of pneumonia, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Sewell, corner of Clay and East Park streets, in this city. She was not expected to live through the night.

The wife of Captain Hangley, twenty first infantry and Miss Estelle Hangley arrived in New York from Europe the last week in April. Miss Hangley sang in Germany just previous to her departure and the following concerning it is an extract from the [illegible]: "It will interest the friends of Miss Estelle S. Hangley to learn of a success before leaving Germany, at a farewell concert of the season, given on the commission to her majesty Queen Olga. The concert was for the poor, and succeeded beyond expectations. Miss Hangley sang five well chosen selections in two different languages. She was vehemently applauded and overwhelmed with flowers, and was presented with a laurel wreath by her German friends for her exquisite rendering of 'Manon,' by Heinrich."

AMUSEMENTS.

"Under the Gaslight," one of the most popular of sensational dramas, was given at the New Market theater last night to a crowded house. Miss Ada Deaves, the charming soubrette, made quite a hit in Kate Castleton's song, "For Goodness Sake Don't Say I Told You," and received half a dozen encores. The cast throughout was in excellent hands and the play went well. This afternoon "Frou-Frou," and to-night the season closes with "Under the Gaslight."

The singing section of the Turn Verein will give an evening entertainment at their hall Sunday, the 20th, which will afford special amusement for the music-loving Germans of the city. The programme contains, among other fine numbers, a Charlotte Concert of Pheoluth, which will draw immensely. The Turner singers are so favorably known here that further recommendations are unnecessary.

A PACKET LINE.

Efforts being made in San Francisco to Establish Such between that Port and Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—[Special.]—It is reported in shipping circles to-day that arrangements are being made to establish a packet line between that port and Portland, and that the proposition met with some degree of success. The parties who are engaged in pushing the matter are somewhat reticent as to particulars, assigning as a reason that it is not in such shape as to be made public, but that in all probability some definite conclusion will be reached in a short time. It appears from inquiries made by an OREGONIAN correspondent that a well-known shipping agent here, who visited Portland about the latter part of February, broached the subject there and at the time received assurance that if the venture was made, no difficulty would be experienced in securing the assistance of shippers for goods intended for the Sound trade.

THE ENTERPRISE RESURRECTED.

For some reason, which is not quite apparent, the proposed line was abandoned, and nothing more was done in the matter until quite recently, when it was again spoken of. It is claimed that the owners of coasting vessels are not disposed to part with them at reasonable figures, and that they are averse to making trips with more than one objective point. It is conceded by the projectors that in the event of the line being established they would have to go to Puget Sound, and perhaps further north, to obtain return cargoes. Before touching at Sound ports, however, vessels would call at Portland, thence at Seattle, and possibly going to Victoria. They would also depend largely upon the coal districts for much of their cargo.

FRANCE IN THE FAR EAST.

What the Tonquin Expedition is Expected to Accomplish.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The feeling of sour grapes at seeing Egypt Anglicized has at last brought France into the incipient throes of colonial war. The French press approve unanimously of the Tonquin expedition and of getting a little cheap glory out of John Chinaman. France will soon have the emperor of China in leading-strings, just as England has the khedive of Egypt. There is no Nile in Tonquin, but there is the famous Red river, watering a country inhabited by 50,000,000 people, and it has a delta not quite as large, but almost as fertile as the delta of the Nile. Just as England narrowly missed being confronted in Egypt by the unbridled fanaticism of Islam, so France runs the risk of having arrayed against herself in Tonquin the long pent up forces of Confucianism. Just as England had to dispose of Arabi, the Egyptian, so France has got to deal with Sieou Jen-Fou, chief of the Heychis, or Pavillons Noirs, who has already won the sobriquet of "Lao" among his admiring countrymen. This Chinese Arabi, moreover, has lately received from the emperor the dignity of mandarin of the second class, just as the Egyptian Arabi received from the sultan the decoration of the first class of the Medjidieh.

The Tonquin expedition is especially popular in military circles, where the word "China" recalls the good old days when Count Palikao's soldiers tied tightly about their ankles their baggy, capacious trowsers, and opening them to the waist, filled these improvised sacks with the splendid gold and silver loot of the emperor's summer palace at Muen Min Yin, near Tientsin. The Ferry ministry now proposes to regain French prestige in the extreme east and at the same time exemplify the truth of Bismarck's saying, that no three years would ever pass without the French government sending out an army somewhere. Admiral Meyer will destroy the 20,000 Chinese soldiers sent from Peking to help the Annamites. Commandant Riviere will chastise the Chinese Arabs on the banks of the Red river, and M. Dekergarade will become mentor to the emperor of China, just as Lord Dufferin was mentor to the khedive. French custom house duties will be collected in Tonquin and the newly civilized Annamites will enjoy all the blessings peculiar to French citizenship. They will not be allowed to use any tobacco except French tobacco, which has the most questionable flavor of any in the world, and they will not be allowed to light their pipes with any other matches than French matches, which are the worst in Europe, and this is saying a great deal. The outcome of it all will be a little cheap glory and history will have to record in her annals still another instance of a colony founded by a Latin race, only to be eventually utilized and developed by the Anglo-Saxon. This is the English view of the French colonization scheme.

Woman's Disadvantages in Courtship.

Cleveland Leader.

A man's quest of a spouse is limited only by his time and opportunities for looking around. He can try to win anybody, although a reasonable chance of success may attend him with but few. At any rate he stands squarely upon his cheek and his merits, and that is enough. On the contrary society says that a woman must never go a step out of her way to secure the best and most desirable of mankind. She must simply sit and wait until chance brings the longed-for opportunity of a asking. In fact, it is said that young ladies pride themselves upon feeling as well as seeming indifferent to all men until an effort is made to awaken their interest. No wonder social reforms a protest. If young maidenhood did not so often fall a victim to the flight of cupid's darts, its range of choice would still be very small. As they go, rich and poor, pretty and homely, intelligent and ignorant, probably women would not, if they accepted none of them, receive on an average more than half a dozen offers apiece, and not over three of these reasonably eligible. Suppose that she is fortunate enough to win a score of suitors, a young lady is still terribly handicapped. Like enough none of the twenty would be just to her liking, and meanwhile one she greatly preferred to any of the others might just escape coming under the spell of her charms. It is all very pretty, but this sitting in "maiden meditation fancy free," until some stray youth makes a vigorous effort to deprive the aforesaid fancy of its liberty, is a very unsatisfactory thing when critically examined.

THE PROHIBITORY AMENDMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There is an old crank out on a lecturing tour on the subject of temperance, who makes many statements but never proves anything. Among other things, he says that the chief clerk of the house at the last session of the Oregon legislature, presumably for cash, made an error in the house journal so as to defeat the constitutional amendment as to the sale of intoxicating liquors, but that the clerk was careful to see that the amendment regarding the right of suffrage (as he terms it, "Miss Dunway's pet,") was properly recorded. Such a statement from a sane man would demand some explanation, but from such an idiotic crank as he is no answer is deserved.

However, some people may not be situated so as to investigate for themselves as to the facts in the case, so I give them. As to "Miss Dunway's pet," I find the following record, as shown by the printed journals:

In the senate journal, pages 51 and 52, under date of September 21, appears a communication from the secretary of state conveying to that body a copy of the resolution providing for a constitutional amendment regarding the right of suffrage. As was the custom, this communication was set out in full on the journal. All communications are recorded in full. On motion the matter was laid on the table.

On Tuesday, October 2 (see page 12, senate journal), the resolution was taken from the table and adopted. On this motion the ayes and noes were taken and properly recorded. The resolution does not appear, here or elsewhere, on the senate journal, except as incorporated in the message from the secretary of state.

Wednesday, October 3, I find in the house journal [illegible] a message from A. Mayo, chief clerk of the senate, informing the house of the passage of the amendment. The amendment was taken up, on motion of Mr. Webb, of Douglas, and adopted. The journal does not, at this time, show any record of the proposed amendment, as required by the constitution, but simply an epitomized statement of the resolution, and the vote on its passage. But on page 517, under date of September 21, I find a message from the secretary of state, which is set out in full, and which contains a copy of the resolution.

The resolution of the senate, providing for a prohibitory amendment, was introduced in the senate October 2d, read and ordered printed. It was at this time recorded on the senate journal in full. October [illegible] the resolution was taken from the table and referred to the committee on judiciary. October 11, the committee reported the resolution back to the senate and it was adopted. On its adoption a copy of the ayes and noes is fully recorded, but the resolution was not set out in full. Under the same date this resolution was sent to the house in a message from the chief clerk of the senate, which was read, and pending its discussion the house adjourned. The evening session being for a special order, the the resolution passed over until the 12th, when it was adopted. On its adoption appear the ayes and noes, but at no time does the resolution appear on the house journal. The only difference therefore, in the journal record in either case is that the woman suffrage amendment was recorded in full when it was embodied in the message from the secretary of state, and as all messages from the executive or state departments were recorded in full, an error could not have been made. The only senate joint resolutions that came up to the house for action, were S. J. R. No. 2, of 1880, S. J. R. No. 1, S. J. R. No. 7 and S. J. R. No. 9. None of these resolutions were ever entered in full on the house journal. The following S. C. R's., to wit: Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 15, (?), appear to have been adopted by the senate, and to have been transmitted for the action of the house. None of the sixteen concurrent resolutions, except the first one (S. C. R. No. 1), was ever recorded in full on the house journal. By this it appears that the record on the house journal on the prohibitory amendment was the same as on all other resolutions, joint and concurrent.

The presumption is reasonable, to say the most, that the error was an unintentional one, and that fact seems to be generally conceded by men of any intelligence.

Besides, the journal was examined after the close of the session by a committee consisting of three of the ablest members of the house, Representatives Gault, Gilbert and Ison, and they failed to detect any error. The assistant clerk of the house, Hon. Geo. H. Burnett, is one of Oregon's ablest young attorneys and it is presumed that he prepared the journal, or if he did not, he was present when it was done and must have seen the journal entry; yet he failed to see or think of the mistake. Is it a wonder that the chief clerk should make an error when a number of Oregon's ablest attorneys failed to observe the mistake? Would it not have been wiser for the friends of the measure, who were on hand all during the session to have watched the making up of the journal on the same? Had five minutes of the time taken up in speeches in its favor been devoted to examining the requirements of the constitution on amendments there, no error would have been made. The chronic crank who, regardless of truth, makes the statement that $100,000 was used in defeating the amendment, I venture to say does not know what are the steps required to pass a constitutional amendment, and if he does, it has been beaten into his obtuse brain within the past few months. He can now claim, perhaps, to know all about it; but when the error was made he had no idea at all upon the subject, unless it was to make a farce of it. If these wise, knowing men had reason to believe that money was on hand to be used to defeat this important legislation, why did they sit idly by and allow such error to be made? No; they, or rather this chronic crank, see a chance to make capital, and he does it, no matter how far from truth his statements may be. If $100,000 was paid to defeat that or any other legislation, no evidence of it has yet been seen. While in Douglas county, where he could meet him face to face, the old crank lecturer would not attempt any charge against the chief clerk; but when he has passed the boundary of the state, and where he thinks it is safe to do so, he charges J. W. Strange with receiving a bribe. Let him make his charge direct and positive, so he may be called upon to sustain his charges. XXX.

SATURDAY MORNING MAY 19 1883

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

BY REV F M ROBERTSON

On Saturday morning May 12th circumstances [illegible] myself to preach the gospel to the Mount Hood [illegible] took the train at East Portland for that most charming valley in Oregon, stretching from the town of Hood river on the Columbia back to the south ward fifteen or twenty miles until it terminates at last under the very shadow of Mount Hood.

The journey thither was one of rare interest. At Troutdale, as you cross the Sandy river, the train plunges suddenly into the mysteries of the [illegible] of that remarkable gorge in the Cascade range through which the Columbia rolls to the sea. The wild and rugged grandeur of towering cliff and [illegible] ting crags is often relieved by a [illegible] with fir and maple with frequent waterfalls [illegible] plunging with savage roar from ledges of solid rock [illegible] hanging like thin lace from the far heights of the mountain brow. On the lay referred to the [illegible] hung low along the summits of the range [illegible] out the sun, rolling over [illegible] and pouring through gorges with a dense sea by which [illegible] at fancy that an ocean from above was about to submerge the world beneath.

At the Cascade locks the Columbia goes swirling and plunging through a narrow channel of only a few hundred feet in width. To see a river of a mile in width compressed into such narrow proportions one cannot resist the idea of an immense depth as though the river was turned up on edge to make its escape from above. The locks now in construction will make the river navigable for large river steamers from its mouth to The Dalles, a distance of some 200 miles or more. This grand defile in the mountains is the sporting place of the winds. Here Boreas and Notus, and forsooth I know Euroclydon [illegible] to gambol and race up the river toward the [illegible] inland empire, where all the rest of the world [illegible]. The result of this law of the winds is [illegible]. The trees grow on the east side of the [illegible] and so are [illegible] sheltered from the wind. The limbs grow on the east side of the trees. The leaves grow on the east side of the limbs [illegible] and limbs [illegible] on the east side of leafy [illegible]. In fact all nature animate and inanimate [illegible] the river seems to have a strong eastward tendency. If our observations are correct it is time for Lotze or some other fellow to paint another picture to be [illegible] companion of "Westward the Star of Empire takes its Way." Paint it with grander rivers [illegible] mountains and grander mill [illegible] the rails of the O R & N to [illegible] of the Cascade range. Has not Port[illegible] is adequate to this noble [illegible] of our city be all ex[illegible]. Why not some one paint [illegible] may contain not only the great fact [illegible] other inspiring [illegible] possession of the wealth [illegible] land. A YANKEE GIRL'S PLUCK

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

THE ARMY REUNION

General McClellan Splendidly Received by the Veterans—His Speech [illegible]

WASHINGTON May 18.—Rear Admiral Rogers answered for the navy. General John F Miller [illegible] sent from [illegible] the Army of the Tennessee shared with the army [illegible] in the spirit of self sacrifice [illegible] ready to peril that the union [illegible] I spoke [illegible] familiar names of the west and [illegible] leaders of Grant Sheridan [illegible] the [illegible] of each [illegible] veterans [illegible] which General McClellan [illegible] As he rose to address [illegible] the veterans sprang [illegible] chairs and broke into cheer [illegible] upon three times [illegible] tables [illegible] the [illegible] he gallery [illegible] tumult [illegible] he [illegible] were gratified [illegible] the enthusiasm [illegible] General McClellan [illegible] throughout the [illegible] and with [illegible] of [illegible] in a wave [illegible] In a [illegible] he began his greeting to his old comrades. Every word was [illegible] He said: I have [illegible] and [illegible] forever when we were [illegible] [illegible] life and hope with the future [illegible] before us there were [illegible] between us that it [illegible] me to me too cold [illegible] formal to address you simply as Mr Chairman and Gentlemen. There [illegible] former [illegible] between you and myself. Very many perhaps most of you were with me when this city [illegible] of that mass of brave men unorganized [illegible] which [illegible] composed the [illegible] of what afterwards became the army of the Potomac. Those of you who were with me then were more to me than [illegible] equal [illegible] more than brothers in arms [illegible] were as my very children. This was McClellan's opening, and in this strain he proceeded to the close. He spoke of trying times in which you and I did our best for our country, and recalled the well and loved and familiar faces which all missed from their ranks. I see now the city the capital of the nation as it was when I came here from western Virginia full of disorganized troops in imminent danger of attack. I see order and quiet restored as if by magic, when you at once responded to my appeal and seconded my endeavors. I remember well the mass of raw troops badly armed and improperly equipped but composed of the best men that ever responded to an appeal to arms, actuated by the highest and purest motives of patriotism, discussing no partisan question, knowing but one thing, that the country was in danger and that they were ready to give their lives for it. I saw an army come out of that mass. I saw reigning order and discipline. Then followed that tedious and unnecessary work of fortifications and capitol hill but work which set the army free to strike where its blows were felt, which more than once saved the capital. I saw that army become capable and being handled in march and under fire and leave the camps in which it had been created and go to the peninsula. There you stood by me and I stood by you and I do not, I can not forget how nobly you passed through your first experience of battle. He sketched briefly at this point some of the principal battles and alluded to the seven days' fight as made in obedience to orders from Washington to cover the advance of reinforcements which never came though the enemy came instead. Fortunately he continued this had been foreseen and days before transports with supplies had been sent to the James to await the army. He then spoke of the gallantry with which the army fought when removed from his command and the glad confidence with which it welcomed his return at Antietam. Of his withdrawal from the army on what he then believed and still believes was the eve of a decisive battle never to meet that army again as its commander he passed over.

Continuing, he said: The army which it was my fortune to organize and break the army that became an army of veterans. I as its earliest and only living commander am glad to know was unsurpassed by any of the historic armies of the world in efficiency valor or achievement.

The remaining toasts were responded to as follows: "The Loyal Legion, Gen Robert C Schenck; Grand Army of the Republic, Gen W W Dudley; Sweethearts and Wives," Charles Dudley Warner; The Veterans," General Francis A Walker; The Press, Captain C H Irmler of the New York Tribune. The speaking was not concluded until after 1 A M

Tendencies of the Colored Voter

Staunton Virginian

The negro has shown his conservative tendencies as conspicuously since his freedom as during slavery when he stood by and protected and provided for the wives and children of confederate soldiers when they were fighting to perpetuate his bondage. And the conservative party been truly conservative, and had it observed the conditions under which it was placed in power—living square up to the commands of the constitution of the nation and state—it is not improbable that to day there would exist more or less division among colored voters, as well as a larger proportion of the white people voting the way the negro now votes for the republican party as the only truly conservative party the state or nation has known for the last twenty years. Let the democratic party of Virginia and the south cease its warfare upon the rights of the negro let it cease its insidious hostility to the public schools—the only means the negro has for improvement and advancement—let it deal with him as a human being—with soul and mind to enlighten and expand, a moral and intellectual being to be elevated and fitted for the better uses of life—and it may then consistently appeal to him for his support at the ballot box. But so long as that party manifests a disposition to abridge and circumscribe guaranteed rights to mock him with his freedom by depriving him of the rights of a freeman it will be natural for the negro to vote against it

Democracy and Whisky

New York Tribune.

The liquor interest is rapidly gaining a controlling influence in the democratic party in all the great states of the west. It has the Ohio democracy completely under its thumb and no man hostile to it can be nominated on the party's ticket this year. In Indiana a similar situation exists. The subserviency of the Illinois democracy to whisky has been strikingly shown by the defeat of the license law during the present session of the legislature. The brewers and saloonists have also determined it is said to force the nomination of Carter Harrison upon the party as its next candidate for governor. In Michigan Iowa and Minnesota the democratic leaders are coquetting with the rumsellers and stand ready to do their bidding for the votes they claim to be able to bring to the party. In all these states therefore the republicans must be prepared to see the liquor league combine with the democracy and become a potent foe or in politics

EASILY PROVEN.—It is easily proven that malaria fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver [illegible] general debility, nervousness and neuralgic ailments yield readily to this great disease conqueror [illegible] It repairs the ravages of disease by [illegible] the food into rich blood and it gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm always.
